

Team -

I want to give you a quick update. I'm sure you all saw the message from the President on Sunday extending the national social distancing guidelines until April 30.

Given this extension, it is unlikely we will be able to open our offices to non-emergency care prior to that date. As you know, we are still open for emergency care, which is a critical service in the fight against COVID-19.

I know moving our return date is disappointing, but I also know this revised guidance is in the best interest of all of us.

We continue to evaluate new information daily and are working hard to prepare to resume full operations at the earliest possible date. We will share a revised target date with you as soon as we can.

I want to thank each of you for your courage during this temporary suspension of care. This is a trying time for all of us, and we look forward to resuming normal operations once we can safely do so.

We encourage you to visit our employee site for additional updates and resources: <https://midwest-dental.com/employees>

Take care,

Steve
